

Healthy People, Healthy Systems
Blueprint for a Post June-2020
National Health Agreement

Alison Verhoeven

Australian Healthcare and Hospitals Association

A 10-year strategic vision

- Reorientate the health system to be:
 - Patient-centred
 - Outcomes-focused
 - Value-based

Four key domains for strategic reform

1. Governance—nationally unified, regionally controlled
2. Data—fit-for-purpose performance information and reporting
3. Workforce—serve and meet population health needs
4. Funding—sustainable and appropriate for high quality

A nationally unified and regionally controlled health system that puts patients at the centre

Key recommendations for governance

1. Independent national health authority reporting to COAG

- Covers primary care, dental care, hospital pricing, National Health Funding Pool, AIHW, ADHA, ACSQHC
- Single source of truth for national health data collection (performance and funding) and regular reporting

2. Formalised agreements with PHNs (Cwlth) and LHNs

(S/T)-- for consistent regional governance--needs assessments, priority setting, funding, coordination, reducing hospital admissions/presentations

Performance information and reporting that is fit for purpose

Key recommendations for data

1. All providers receiving government funding required to supply patient outcomes/service dimensions data.
2. National data system for primary healthcare.
3. Patient-reported experience and outcome measures.
4. Interoperability standards for data sharing.
5. National approach to measuring value-based patient-centred outcomes.
6. Regional needs assessments to drive investment in prevention

The group includes a young man, a young boy, a young girl, a woman, an older woman holding a baby, and an older man. They are standing in front of a building with horizontal siding. The image is overlaid with a semi-transparent blue and orange gradient.

A health workforce that exists to serve and meet population health needs

Key recommendations for workforce

- 1. Develop a National Health Workforce Reform Strategy.
- 2. Goes beyond what is happening now.
- 3. Pursues outcomes-focused and value-based changes in scope of practice and models of care to meet public needs.
- 4. Coordinate with education, regulation and funding considerations at all levels and across health service environments.

A third person's hands are clasped together on the table. The scene is set around a table with several notebooks and papers.

Funding that is sustainable and appropriate to support a high quality health system

Key recommendations for funding

- 1. Current Cwlth public hospital funding levels and growth formula maintained for 7 years.
- 2. Health services funded regionally--agreements centred on patient needs, also attractive to providers.
- 3. Financial incentives for standardised tracking of patient outcomes
- 4. Funding formula includes 25% component for achieved health outcomes across agreed top 4 diseases/conditions/risk factors/determinants
- 5. Dedicated funds for prevention activities.
